European mergers are waiting for moment to join

Doc Ladd, of the Dunes, in a reproachful presentation of political prejudices pertaining to parties proposes preparations for holding the Republican State Convention in a phone booth.

Now you dear deluded, democratic duffer, you may consider that after twelve years of the new deal all Republicans are worn to mere skeletons so that a whole mess, maybe as many as half a dozen, could be put in a phone booth and held in conversation with the door shut.

There are no prizes for raw backs and skinned noses, although from the looks of some of the fishermen, it is obvious that they were competing for honors in that branch of the sport.

I make a lot of these supposed fishermen standing about the pool in front of the hotel pretending to fish.

When I was young you even had to dig your own bait there were no mormons.

And soon as the fishing game lets up they are going to add some slightly false mormons and mermen to the security of the pool. No fish hooks allowed.

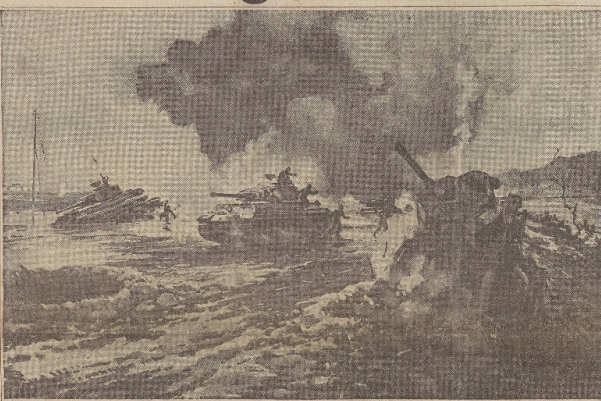

FRAT BADGER FIGHT In spite of vigorous protests the Hellsdorados committee determined to carry out their plans for the dog and badger fight.

Of course none of those who would sack at the sight of a dog and flowing blood; those conscientious souls who are outraged by the sight of a badger fight, would want to see the affair the committee insists on pulling off. Therefore perhaps a boycott of the event would be the most effective way to showing our disapproval.

We suggest that an effective boycott would consist of withdrawing from the front lines of the race where it would be impossible for you to see over the heads of those in front.

However, there is no reason why those opposed to the fight should not continue their protests. Perhaps a practical measure would be the raising of a fund by public subscription for the allocation and treatment of the victorious survivors, assuming that either survives, as a token of community disapproval and at the same time a humanitarian measure.

LONGVIEW, Wash., May 13 (UP)—Police are dragging the bottom of the Columbia river near here today, searching for the bodies of two high school girls who are believed to have drowned when the car plunged over the bank.

Within the Anzio-Nettuno beachhead in Italy, where the fighting continues bitterly, the Germans have been driven to using their tanks in a manner that has exposed them to the Allied counter-fire—with heavy tanks that have started crawling toward the battle line, and our guns have begun to plaster them. Men are leaping out of the disabled vehicles into the shelter of a ditch. (By W. G. Whitaker, London Special Correspondent.)

Defense Nerves of Nazi Blown Ragged by Allies

Heavy Losses Inflicted At Vital Points

By WALTER CRONKITE United Press Staff Correspondent LONDON, Sunday, May 14 (UP)—The allied air command touched another tender Nazi defense nerve yesterday when American air forces, totaling 1,750 heavy bombers and fighters, hammered aircraft plants at Tullow and synthetic oil plants at Sittler, forcing the Luftwaffe to sacrifice 83 of its precious fighters in a futile attempt to blunt the attack.

Spreading an aerial invasion of western Europe by 2,000 British-based bombers, the four-engine Flying Fortress and Liberator 750 strong and escorted by 1,000 American fighters, also blasted the great Nazi rail center of Danuburg in northwestern Germany and other widely industrialized targets in the Reich.

Striking Nazi fighter plants and synthetic oil plants for the second time in 24 hours, American bombers and fighters fought a series of blazing dogfights with German interceptors. U. S. fighter pilots bagged 44 enemy planes and German gunners missed the Luftwaffe's two-day effort for the defense of its sources of plane and fuel supply to 213.

Twelve Flying Fortresses and Liberators and 12 fighters were missing from the widespread assault on Germany. Stockholm reports said that four heavy bombers and one fighter landed in Sweden.

While the big bombers rained fire on Germany's Baltic Sea coast, hundreds of other American and British heavy, medium, light and fighter bombers again pounded French coastal fortifications and at least seven rail targets and four Luftwaffe airfields behind the Nazi Atlantic wall in France and Belgium.

Four Thrill Days Out of Old West

Hellsdorados with all its traditional events, including parades, rodeo events, and entertainment for adults and children at the Hellsdorados Village, will be celebrated in Las Vegas all week starting on Thursday and ending next Sunday.

The preliminaries are over. The pictureque togs of the old west are already held over. The ring burros have had their fling. Whiskers have grown to the bristly extent where they might frighten the timid.

French Force Drives Wedge Near Cassino

United Press Staff Correspondent WITH THE FIFTH ARMY BEYOND CASTELFORTE, Italy, the French troops have driven a wedge into the German lines near Cassino.

The French, fighting with brilliant skill, captured three important heights northwest of Castelforte, one of which had limited observation all the way from Cassino to the coast.

Following after the dislodging tanks, I saw them met by a heavy barrage which tumbled up against the others waddled on into the town through a widening blob of smoke and dust.

American troops were locked in battle near Santa Maria, four miles southwest of Castelforte, the Tyrrhenian Sea coast.

Standing outside Castelforte, one seemed to be in a huge saucer looking up toward the tip. Midway up the cliff, 100 feet or so, the German positions were playing a grim guessing game with the German artillerymen.

The green slopes were smeared with wide streaks of brilliantly red poppies. Some of them were crushed by the tread of Sherman tanks which had pushed forward into Castelforte.

I watched the start of the American sally south of Santa Maria from a Piper cub. We could see the Americans digging in across rough terrain.

A Chinese communiqué, intimating that the situation was desperate, announced that the enemy had driven to within less than two miles west of Loyang at the same time while another Japanese broadcast was only three miles northwest of the ancient capital.

Leaders Send Messages Of Preparedness

By JOHN A. PARRIS United Press Staff Correspondent LONDON, May 13 (UP)—The underground leaders in three strategically vital countries of western Europe announced tonight in special messages smuggled out to the United Press that their forces are ready to start a powder keg revolt when the allies invade the continent.

The messages came from France, Belgium and Norway. They responded to questions which I had smuggled to the underground leadership weeks earlier through their liaison officers who shuttle back and forth from London to their blacked-out homelands.

The list of the messages reached me in dramatic fashion at 2 o'clock this morning. My telephone rang. A voice on the other end said: "I have a message for you."

"It is a seven pound boy," I said. "Congratulations. You are a hero." "I am not a hero," he replied.

Ten hours later over a glass of beer in the Belgian underground club known as "Neel Powness" somewhere in London, this very little man of 45, barely five feet tall, relayed the message from his own Belgium. A few weeks ago Emile and I had sat here discussing the missions to and from the continent and he had taken a personal message from me to the underground leaders and back to the boys.

"It will be a show," he said. "It is not too difficult. I have got a very important task this time." His blue eyes danced. "A friend of mine has a sister in Belgium who is expecting a baby. I don't know how to look her up when I get there and find out if she is all right. So I'd like to see you."

"I'll be a seven pounder and will make a good Belgian," Donnie laughed. The matter is being discussed. I called my friend this morning and she is happy.

Day and Night Raids on Japs

By WILLIAM F. TREEH PEARL HARBOR, May 13 (UP)—United States army, navy and marine planes, stepping up their efforts to reduce isolated Japanese enemy bases and night raids Thursday, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced tonight.

Midfield of the Seventh Army Airforce, Ventura search planes and a single Catalina of fleet air wing live up to heavy Hellcats and Marine Dauntless divebombers and Corsairs joined in the attack. The daily communique disclosed.

Runways, anti-aircraft batteries and barracks were hit as the attacking planes found that Japanese gunners still were alive and able to resist at their bases.

One of the Dauntless planes was shot down, apparently by anti-aircraft fire, but the down was rescued by a United States destroyer which steamed in to the area near the target.

A navy search plane of fleet air wing also bombed the airstrip at the Japanese-held island of Kawanabe, but the search plane was damaged by the approach to Turok, 700 miles to the west, and another search plane shot down by a Japanese medium bomber northeast of Turok.

Doom Hanging Over Loyang

CUNCKING, May 13 (UP)—The fall of Loyang, key Chinese stronghold in Honan province, appeared imminent tonight as the Japanese invaders, supported by hundreds of tanks, moved into the immediate outskirts of the city and engaged in bloody hand-to-hand fighting with the trapped garrison.

A Chinese communiqué, intimating that the situation was desperate, announced that the enemy had driven to within less than two miles west of Loyang at the same time while another Japanese broadcast was only three miles northwest of the ancient capital.
