Uranus

Uranus is the seventh planet from the sun in our solar system. This huge, icy planet is covered with clouds and is made up of 80% gas and 20% ice. Uranus has a unique feature: its rotation is on its side (98°).

Rotation Axis

Uranus' rotation axis is tilted at an angle (98°) instead of being perpendicular to the plane of its orbit (like all the other planets in our Solar System). Uranus rotates on its side (along its orbital path). The axial tilt is 98° relative to the plane of its orbit.

Size

Uranus is about 31,400 miles (50,100 km) in diameter. This is about 4 times the diameter of the Earth. This gas giant is the third-largest planet in our Solar System (after Jupiter and Saturn).

Mass And Gravity

Uranus has a mass of about 45.9 Earth masses. This is about 4.5 times the mass of the Earth. The gravity on Uranus is only 88% of the gravity on Earth. This is because it is such a big planet (and the gravitational force a planet exerts upon an object on the planet's surface is proportional to the mass and to the inverse of the radius squared). A 100-lb person on Uranus would weigh 88 pounds.

Length Of A Day And Year On Uranus

Each day on Uranus takes 17h 14min. A year on Uranus takes 84.6 Earth years, it takes 84.6 Earth years for Uranus to orbit the Sun once.

Uranus's Orbit And Distance From The Sun

Uranus is over 19 times as far from the Sun as the Earth is (it averages 19.2 AU).

Temperature

The mean temperature on the surface of Uranus's cloud layer is -215°C (63 K). Uranus has very little heat in comparison with the other gas giants (Jupiter, Saturn and Neptune).

Uranus's Composition And Atmosphere

Uranus is a frozen, gaseous planet with a rocky core. Uranus's atmosphere consists of 80% hydrogen, 15% helium and 5% methane.

Moons

Uranus has a total of 11 moons, seven rings composed of rock and dust. They orbit Uranus in very elliptical orbits. These rings are only a fraction of the size of Saturn's rings, and were only discovered in 1977.
